

IFFAT IDRIS

Iffat Idris is a freelance consultant working in the development field. Based in Islamabad, she works primarily on governance issues (justice sector and gender reform, transparency, public resource management), disaster management and capacity development. Her skills are in research, analysis and communication. She has carried out assignments for major international development organizations as well as agencies and NGOs. Her thesis on ethnic conflict in Kashmir was published by Oxford University Press.